National Midwifery Week!

In conjunction with Oct. 1, 2023, through Oct. 7, 2023 recognized as National Midwifery Week, we recognize Cmdr. Teri Ryals, Navy certified nurse midwife assigned to Naval Hospital Bremerton OB/GYN clinic.

"A Navy certified nurse midwife is a master's or doctorate prepared healthcare provider that provides essential women health services to OBGYN patients including contraceptive care which is part of our surgeon general's priority of operational readiness," explained Ryals.

"We also provide family planning services, an array of gynecologic care, preconception counseling, and postpartum care. We are on the frontline and demonstrate unique capabilities by remaining clinical and deploying, while demonstrating the ability to provide invaluable input to clinical communities in the military health system."

"Our goal is to not only provide care and connect with our patients but to assist in the development of policy and procedural changes that are conducive to improving the standardization, quality, and safety of female and transgendered patients in support of operational readiness."

Did you know? NHB's Walk-In Contraceptive Clinic services has been available for all active duty service members and eligible beneficiaries since 2021. No appointment is necessary, every Wednesday, from 8 a.m. to 11 a.m., and 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

The goal of the walk-in contraceptive clinic is to enhance warrior readiness and pregnancy planning throughout reproductive years.

Ryals has deployed on hospital ship USNS Mercy (T-AH 19), participated in the Afghan Allies Welcome Mission, and answered the call of duty for manning assists to various military installations. She is NHB's OBGYN clinic department head and the Family Planning Sub-Community Board chair which is a clinical community of DHA's Female Force Readiness Advisory Board.

For Lt. j.g. Adeline Guina, her Navy Nurse Corps career had been highlighted by helping support USNS Comfort Enduring Promise mission in stops in Central America, South America and the Caribbean.

Lt. Daria Seipeltyra said she knew two things from a very young age; she wanted to be a nurse, and she wanted to join the United States Navy. As recent Jr. Officer of the Quarter, she has demonstrated consistent high performance in his current positon as OB-GYN division officer. As prior enlisted, she valued her experience and used it to commission in the Navy Nurse Corps. She's the eyes and ears, along with energy and enthusiasm of her clinic. All day, every day…

Both the military and medicine runs in Lt. Kaitlyn Harmon's family, so naturally she is where she needs to be, as a medical surgical nurse, caring for those in need and leading her Sailors.

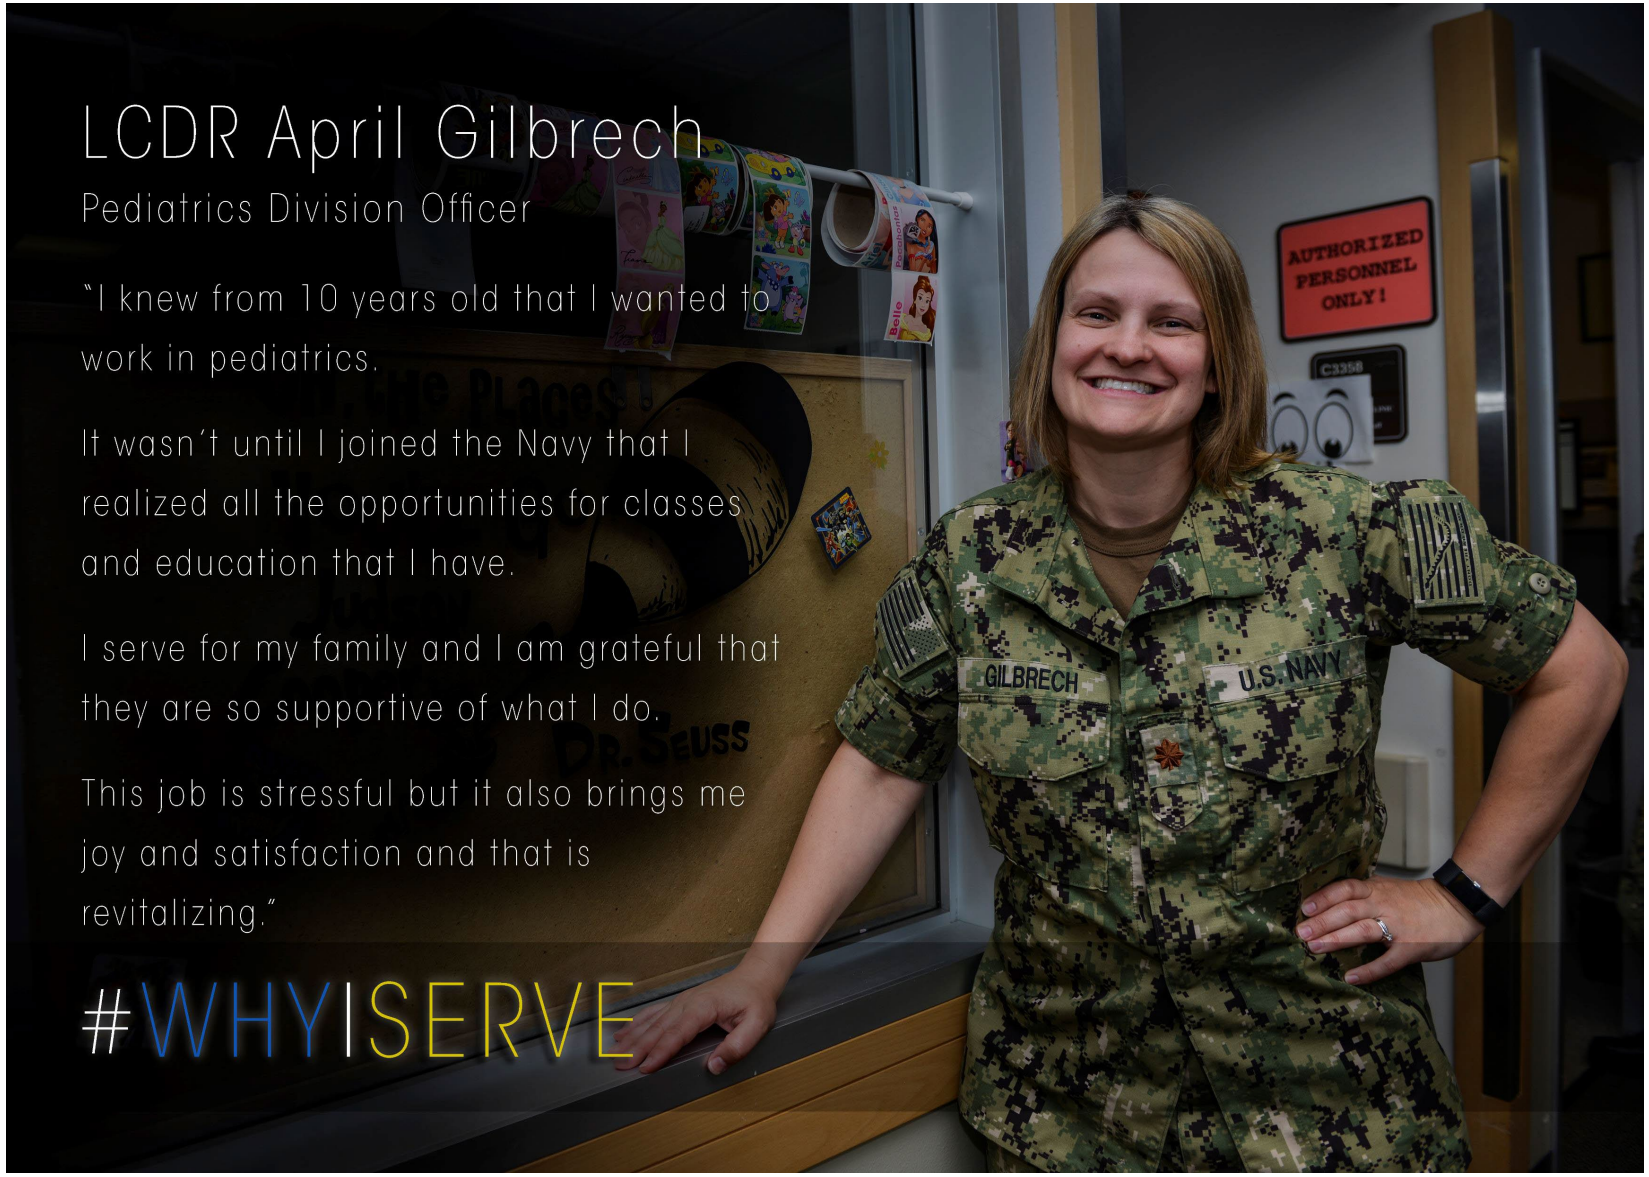
Asked to sum up her experience with Navy Medicine in one sentence, Harmon replied, "the Navy provided me with an education, nursing skills, friendships and opportunities I could not provide myself otherwise. I am thankful for the opportunities and for the life lessons as well."

Navy Medicine Readiness Training Command Bremerton commenced National Nurses Week, May 6-12, 2023, with a Blessings of the Hands by command chaplain, Lt. Cmdr. John Tarr, followed by breakfast offerings. "Chaplains and nurses have much in common," explained Tarr. "Both tend to meet people on a worst day. We comfort them when with mercy and compassion." There are approximately 100 active duty, civil service and contractor nurses assigned to NMRTC Bremerton, each contributing to the National Nurses Week 2023 theme: Nurses Make A Difference, Anytime, Anywhere - Always

Did you know? At Navy Medicine Readiness Training Command Bremerton, Navy Nurse Corps officers, who make up approximately half of the 100 assigned nurses, are part of more than 4,000 active duty and reserve nurses who provide care or support patient care in more than 20 specialties which include:

Ambulatory care nursing
Critical care
Education and training management
Emergency/trauma
Family nurse practitioner
Health care business analytics
Maternal infant nursing
Medical-surgical
Mental health
Neonatal critical care
Nurse anesthesia
Nursing education
Nurse midwife
Nursing researcher
Operational nursing
Pediatric nurse practitioner
Pediatric nursing
Perioperative
Psychiatric health nurse practitioner
Public health

For the approximately 95 nurses assigned – including nearly 50 Navy Nurse Corps officers – NHB/NMRTC Bremerton is celebrating National Nurses Week, May 6-12, 2024, which culminates with the Navy's Nurse Corps 116th Birthday from their initial date, May 13, 1908.



LCDR April Gilbrech
Pediatrics Division Officer
"I knew from 10 years old that I wanted to work in pediatrics.
It wasn't until I joined the Navy that I realized all the opportunities for classes and education that I have.
I serve for my family and I am grateful that they are so supportive of what I do.
This job is stressful but it also brings me joy and satisfaction and that is revitalizing."
